

BAT Bulletin Winter 2021

Newsletter for campers and staff
(and parents, too)

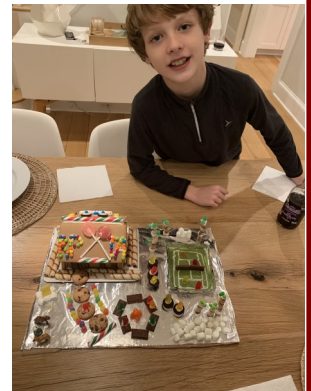

View of Mount Washington (in New Hampshire) from the Winona Junior Wiggy porch on a great winter day. We still have lots of snow on the ground and lots of lake ice, but we know spring, and then summertime, is right around the corner. 104 days until camp opens!

While James Golden was sledding with friends, his brother Oliver spent his snow day building this backyard mini-rink!

A picture with George Stamatoyannopoulos wearing his Winona buff and Barty Hall (in the green coat on the right) watching Kings and Queens of Corbet's (Corbet's Couloir) in Jackson Hole. Amazing skiing!

Luis Manuel "Lolo" Caceres is an avid soccer player, and he really is looking forward for the summer, to see old friends and make new ones.

Uncle Todd had a Honolulu layover, so invited pilot-in-training Miles Brown out to the planes on a beautiful Hawaiian day.

Congratulations to these campers enrolled since the last BAT Bulletin.
They are guaranteed a spot for this season!

From Uncle Lime: Some personal archive pictures from Winona 40 years ago. Other than not finding a high dive platform in a modern winter Roundhouse picture, little has seems to have changed over time. A group of then Inty counselors found themselves encamped in the Inty Wiggy for three nights during Christmas Week, 1980. We did fun winter activities with daytime highs in the 20s and overnight lows in the single digits.

MORE NEWS FROM HERE AND ABOUT...

Alumnus, Ted Robinette Wi 1965 sent a nice card and included a funny memory, "One of my cabin mates, in his sleep, sang the camp song (which I don't remember) all the way through, and at the end he said 'One more time!' and sang it through again!! Amazingly, I was the only one of 4 or 5 tent mates who awoke to his singing, but I have never forgotten the event. Priceless!"

"ONE MORE TIME!"

We are pleased to announce Clay Miles is moving into a year-round job position at Winona as Assistant Director/Leadership Development. It's difficult to think of anyone who could be more qualified! Clay's first summer at Winona was in 1964, at age 6. Over the 35 summers he has spent here (including 26 summers as a staff member) Clay has focused on providing our community with the most important thing he received as a camper: being a strong, caring, thoughtful role model for boys and young men. His responsibilities during summertime will continue to include staff training, leadership development and precision remodeling of Winona's staff cabins. In the off-season he and his wife, Kim, will remain in Connecticut, and Clay will focus on alumni relations, staff recruitment and special initiatives to help Winona to continue to improve. Clay's experience as a camp parent (their children attended Winona or Wyonegonic) competitive swimmer, photographer, sushi epicure and classroom teacher all supports Winona's continual movement forward into the future.

Zach Clayton will be joining us as our 2021 Junior Unit Director! More to follow in the ne ulletti

Winona is excited to announce our 2021 Intermediate Unit Directors, Jesse and "Doc" Potter. Massive Brix Brax to Uncle Jeff Lamson as he works on his PhD program: he leaves Camp IX in the capable hands of Aunt Jesse and Uncle Doc, who have a combined 30 summers at Winona and Wyonegonic (and too many Potter-Littlefield family alums to count!). The northern most unit at Winona is planning on a spectacular summer!

Reminders:

Start thinking about your ICE out date. More information in upcoming months of the BAT Bulletin.

New TRIVIA/FUN FACT section

Last month's trivia question (without using the Winona website):

What year was the Winona Farmhouse built? Answer: 1820

Loon Fun Fact: Loons are agile swimmers, but they move pretty fast in the air, too. Migrating loons have been clocked flying at speeds more than 70 mph.

We are excited with all of the plans we have for summertime. Can't wait!

Until next Bat Bulletin,

Uncle Spencer and Aunt Laura
